Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World.
Harper's Magazine.
ILLUSTRATED.
NOTICES OF THE PRESS.
The volumes of Harper's Magazine, which one may subscribe for at any time, do not lose their value. The Magazine has not in the least abated the popularity it won in the outset, but has added to its high merit. And has kept fully abreast of the times, thanks to the enterprise of the publishers and the taste and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of fiction, discovery and fashion, the average reader of to-day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expressibly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago. But in the same admirable variety of contents and the same freshness and suggestiveness in its editorial departments it now as then.—Boston Journal.

War of 1812.
Pensions. Pensions
A law has just passed giving a Pension of $30 per year to all Soldiers of the War of 1812, who served 14 days, or were in any engagement, and the widows, also, are entitled to the same pension, regardless of the date of their marriage. I am authorized to obtain these pensions for all who are entitled.
Application can be made to me in person at my office in Bangor, or by letter. The earlier the application the better for the applicant.
I have all the rolls and records of every soldier of the war, with their names in alphabetical order so that every soldier's service can be readily ascertained.
No other person in Maine has these records, except C. P. Brown, Esq.
Don't entrust your claims to unreliable and inexperienced hands.
A. J. CHAPMAN,
U. S. War Claim Agent.
Bangor, March 11, 1878.

War of 1812.
Congress has just passed a law giving a Pension of $30 per month to all Soldiers of the War of 1812, who served 14 days, or were in battle—and the same pension to the widows of deceased soldiers.
This entitles all to a pension who have received Land Warrants.
All entitled to the pension can obtain it, by applying to me in person at my office, or by letter.
I have all the Old Rolls, on which is borne the name of all soldiers of the War of 1812, with the place and length of service and date of discharge, and all facts, and I can give full and exact information in every case.
Also a record of most of the Land Warrants granted to those soldiers.
No person, east of Portland, has these rolls, except myself and A. J. Chapman, Esq., of Bangor, who has equal facilities for obtaining these pensions. He was formerly a clerk in my office.

STATE NEWS.

Cumberland.

A man was kicked in the stomach by a horse at Scarboro, Sunday, and very seriously injured.

A short time ago three men went out to Chimney Roel to get a boat load of rock weed. When returning and about a mile from the shore the boat capsized, and sank immediately in forty fathoms of water. They happened to have in tow a small boat to which they clung, throwing out the rock weed with one hand and holding on with the other till they got enough out so that they could get in, and then pulled for shore. It was a very narrow escape from drowning. The name of the yacht lost was the "Leo."

The Press says: A despatch was received Wednesday at the Merchants' Exchange announcing that the barque Rachel, Capt. Walls, from Hilmazas to Boston with molasses, was at Vineyard Haven leaking badly. The crew refused duty. The owners, Geo. S. Hunt & Co., of Portland, learn that the leak was caused by a long spell of heavy weather which the vessel encountered. The crew kept at the pumps very steadily and probably became worn out. The vessel will be towed to Boston.

The Press says: Mr. Hiram Skillings, the man referred to as having been bitten by Mr Libby a mad dog, called at this office yesterday on his return from Boston. He says that he does not think he was bitten. He was playing with the dog and a small piece of skin was removed. He did not have it examined and went to Boston on an entirely different matter. He does not think that the dog could have been mad, for the day he saw him he was playing in the water in the Basin, and it is said that a dog that is mad abhors water. Mr. Skillings says he is not alarmed about his wound in the least. Another dog belonging at Brighton Corner has disappeared in some such way as did Mr. Libby's.

The new index to the Cumberland County Records are now about completed and in a few days will be placed in the Register of Deeds' office. This index will be found very convenient to all who have occasion to search the records of the county. The penmanship of the index which was executed under the supervision of the publishers, is very fine, every word being as legible as though it were printed.

Franklin.

A resident of Farmington conceived to try some superphosphate on his garden this spring and turned a man to do the work. When night came he was looking round and discovered that the man had used up a barrel of cement that stood near by, and the superphosphate remained untouched. He probably preferred handling cement Don't blame him.

The Farmer says: We learn that a reunion of old stage drivers is to be holden in Augusta on the first day of June prox. Among the oldest are Amos Rollins, of Belgrade who is 78 years old, and Calvin Hamlin, of China, who is still older. A large number of the old whips will be present and a good time is anticipated.

Home and Berry caught a sturgeon in the Kennebec, Wednesday, between the railroad bridge and the toll bridge, weighing 300 lbs., and six feet in length. It was speedily gobbled up by the French families at Augusta, who regard the sturgeon as one of the best of the food fishes.

The Vassalboro woolen mills have just put into the finishing room a new patent steam press. It bids fair to surpass anything yet introduced. It is so constructed that no press marks of any kind are left on the cloth. Indeed, it seems superior in every respect to the old method, besides one man can easily do the work formerly done by three.

Thursday afternoon while two young men, one named Chas. Sabins, and the other Bert Brann of Augusta, were exercising a colt one of them owned, when coming over the causeway toward Gardiner, spooking the animal a little, the sulky collided with a truck team standing for unloading near Berry's wharf and the occupants of the carriage were very violently thrown out, one of them, Sabins, thrown into the air some ten feet or more, striking on his head and shoulders, receiving a severe shock, if not permanent injury.

Tuesday afternoon Geo. W. Waterhouse, of Pittston, while at work on the Knickerbocker Ice House, at Smithtown, fell from the "run" and broke two ribs off near the spine.

Gen. Tillson of Rockland has contracted with parties in Philadelphia to build a propeller to take the place of the steamer Hurricane, and for towing, etc. She is to be a powerful and fast boat; her length is ninety feet, breadth, nineteen feet, depth nine feet. She will have a compound engine, and a boiler of best half-inch iron. The steamer is now well under way, and will, it is expected, take her place on the route by the middle of July.

Sheriff Low called an inquest as to the burning of the Rockport House at Rockport Friday, which was continued on Saturday and Monday. The proceedings were secret, but the fact that the fire was incendiary wantonly established. What conclusion the jury arrived at is not disclosed.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1878.

AN "INTERVIEW."

The Bangor Commercial of last evening publishes an "interview" with Gen. H. M. Plaisted, in which that gentleman is reported as expressing himself very freely with reference to Senator Hamlin—or "the Carthaginian" as he politely designates him,—as alleging doubts as to Mr. Hale's re-election, reporting the opposition to Mr. Powers "as strong as ever," declaring he is not in sympathy with the Greenbackers, but believes their doctrine "a dangerous one," saying that Governor Connor is to be brought forward by the "ring" because the "ring" have no candidate in Eastern Maine, and presenting arguments to show that the Governorship "rightfully belongs to the Eastern part of the State." He informs the Commercial that there will be a strong opposition to Governor Connor, but "whether it will be shown at the Convention is uncertain." Gen. Plaisted's manifestation, in a Democratic paper, of his unfriendliness to Senator Hamlin, is a matter of perhaps more importance to himself than any one else, and Congressman Hale is probably capable of looking after his political interests without the aid of either the General or the Commercial. As to Mr. Powers, whose former nomination was very much against the wishes of Gen. Plaisted, we have the most reliable evidence that many of the most prominent and respectable of his former opponents have been greatly pleased with the ability he has exhibited as a Representative, and will cordially support his renomination; and we have every reason to believe that he will receive a practically unanimous Republican support. As to Governor Connor, the public may naturally assume that Gen. Plaisted's well known aspirations for the Governorship may somewhat bias his judgment, and it is but proper for us to say that we have seen or heard no indication of "opposition" to the Governor, outside the immediate friends of other aspirants for the nomination. So far as we know Governor Connor's administration has been above criticism, and the people at large are much more interested just now in making sure of a capable Chief Magistrate than in discussing "claims of locality" or forwarding the ambitions of individuals.

One paragraph of the "interviewer" may seem to require a word from us.

R.—How about this report that you are to be the candidate of the Greenback party for Governor?

Gen.—It was started in the Commercial and, after travelling through the various papers of New England, was copied into the N. Y. Times and then into THE WHIG. The latter paper published it without any comments when it could have seen pretty ascertained the truth. I have heard considerable from it and a good many of my friends in the country have written me very enthusiastic letters. I would not, however, be a candidate for Governor of the party if I could be elected.

According to the General's statement he was aware that the report started in a paper published in the city of his own residence, and that it circulated throughout New England and into New York, and yet he made no effort whatever to contradict or discredit it. After such an unchallenged circulation, when it came to us in the New York Times we simply quoted the item with credit to that paper, with a statement that we were ignorant of its authority. We certainly did not feel called upon to "interview" Gen. Plaisted upon the subject, and the manner of its publication by us invited any contradiction he might have been pleased to make. As the paper which "started" the report is the one through whose columns the General has since chosen to give his political views to the public, we think he has hardly any legitimate cause to complain against us for "copying" that report after it had been "travelling through the various papers of New England" and "copied into the N. Y. Times" with his knowledge, but without a sign of contradiction. We certainly had not the slightest reason to doubt the correctness of the report.

FAILURE OF THE POLICY

In his address to the Vermont Republican State Convention on Thursday, Governor Smith, gave the President credit for those "good intentions" so persistently claimed, and then went on to say:

Union men were cast aside that the rebels might come to the front. What are the results of the experiment? The Republican party, born of a necessity, its mission to free the slaves, has been shattered and riven, and yet can any one say that its mission is ended? Has it performed its work, and should it be superseded? Let the record of the present Congress give the answer. Is there no need of the Republican party? Does loyalty exist in the lately rebel States? Never since prior to the war has the spirit of the rebellion been so violent, so rampant as to-day. What means the reduction of the army? Reducing the appropriations? Can you recall a similar legislation? Go back to the days immediately preceding the rebellion, when the loyal North was crippled that the rebel South might be all powerful.

The present is but a repetition of that legislation. Never since then has the government so much needed the support of the loyal people. In that alone lies the safety of the republic, without that the triumph of treason is sure. I am not an alarmist; I believe while the policy of generous treatment was honestly undertaken, it will be as honestly abandoned. I believe the administration desired to see the failure of its policy, and is now prepared to take a different stand and come to the side of the only party that can bring peace and safety to the country. I have not yet lost my faith in that guiding providence that has thus far preserved and guarded our country and will yet bring us through all our trouble. You, gentlemen, can contribute largely to the prosperity of the party.

Let it be known to the world that Vermont is still true and faithful to the party with which it has been so long identified.

Governor Smith was frequently interrupted by applause, and was warmly cheered at its conclusion.

Since its glaring conviction of falsehood and forgery in dealing with the financial question, the Commercial has been dumb, until last evening, when it brought forward again its anonymous correspondent who occupied a column and a half with a most irrelevant and inconsequential harangue. He decares that the only difference between us and the Greenback Manchausens is a little matter of only eleven hundred and ninety-odd millions of dollars, which he tries to explain. The writer is evidently an old "soft Democrat," and if he wants us to deal with him further he must stand out and assume a responsible name, so that we can fasten his falsehoods somewhere when we expose them.

Interest in the settlement of the Eastern question now turns on the understanding between England and Russia. That is to say, interest turns on how they have decided to divide the spoils. Germany consenting.

met with a very humiliating defeat in the House on Thursday, which is thus described by the special of the Boston Journal:

The Democrats encountered another Waterloo in the House to-day. They were defeated upon one of the vital measures of their party policy by Democratic votes. It will be no longer possible for Democratic stump orators to announce that the great party of reform has crippled Lincoln's hirelings and has reduced the maximum of the army to such a standard that the Communists may reign supreme in Northern States, and the Tilden revolutionists may take possession of the Government without forcible resistance. Mr. Hewitt of New York, of the Appropriation Committee, was assigned to the charge of the Army bill. That bill, as reported to the House, contained two parts. First, a reduction of the army from the present standard of 25,000 to 20,000 men. Second, a reorganization of the Staff Corps. The first was the vital part of the Army Appropriation bill. To it Hewitt has devoted all his energies all this session. He was so confident of his passage that he at one time expressed regrets that Senator Blaine was likely to be appointed a member of the Conference Committee on the part of the Senate, as Hewitt said Blaine and himself were not on speaking terms, and it would be difficult to adjust the difference between the two houses as to a reduction of the army.

Hewitt will be saved that humiliation at the hands of the Senate. He has suffered it at the hands of his own party. The House to-day, in Committee of the Whole, by a vote of 115 aga nst 107, defeated the Democratic proposition; and decided that the army shall not be reduced, and that it shall be retained at twenty-five thousand men. Hewitt, crushed, humiliated by the vote, fell back into his seat as if legislation had lost its charm for him. The defeat was accomplished by exactly the means which the Republicans had notified the Democrats would prevail against the bill. The united Republican vote was strengthened by the votes of the Texas delegation (save Reagan, ex-Confederate Postmaster General), by Democratic members from Oregon and California, General Williams of Michigan, who, Democrat though he is, never forgets that he was a gallant Union Soldier, and that the American army still deserves some consideration at the hands of the American Congress.

The plan of the Republicans then was to strike out the rest of the bill, and to move to recommit the whole subject, with instructions to report back a bill adapted to an army of twenty-five thousand. This motion did not prevail, the Democrats having agreed to reshape the bill pending consideration of the scheme for reorganization. There is no change for the Democrats to defeat this action of the Committee of the Whole when the bill shall be reported to the House. The indications, however, are that the reorganization portion may be adopted.

The New Orleans Democrat commends Jeff. Davis' Macon letter, and asks: "Can any man review the policy of the Federal Government in the Southern States during the decade which succeeded, not the surrender, but the exhaustion and fall of the Confederacy, and not blush for his country?" We thought it would come to this. The Democrat presents the issue squarely. The defenders of the Union fought to be ashamed of themselves, and fought to blush for themselves because of the effort to stamp out treason. This is one point, but there is another. Returning to the Davis letter, the Democrat says: "In so far as the tide of centralism has seen, in the last year or two, repelled, it has been repelled by the principles of the Confederacy, which Jefferson Davis has so eloquently, feelingly, and courageously defended in his noble letter. It is these principles which constitute the hope of the Union. It is the triumph of these principles which can alone restore to this abused country the liberties of which its people, North and South, have been insidiously bereft."

This shows where we are drifting. The Democratic party is to-day under the control of ex-rebels of the South, and the principles enunciated in the letter of Jeff Davis are, in the minds of the men who control the Democratic party, the principles which constitute the hope of the Union. The New Orleans organ speaks the sentiments of the Southern wing of the party. It is only a little in advance of others and the people will soon be called upon to approve or condemn declarations which will mean in effect the same as the culminations of the Southern Democratic papers.—Intercean.

The Washington special of the Boston Advertiser gives the following particulars of the meeting and animus of the Democratic National Committee:

WASHINGTON, May 23. The Democratic National Committee were in session more than two hours this morning and again this evening until a late hour. It was early determined to adopt a resolution which, besides other points, should approve the investigation ordered by the House, but there had been a prolonged and earnest struggle over the adoption of an amendment declaring that it was not the purpose to attempt revolution by unseating the President. Senator McDonald of Indiana, was especially urgent in favor of such a declaration, asserting that the business interests of the country, which demand peace and stability, required that the party should take such a position. The member from Louisiana was one of the most determined opponents of such a declaration. He declared that the people of the South were full of people who demanded that Hayes should be driven out of the White House, and no Democrat would be satisfied with any other result. He knew the evidence that had been produced to be presented to the investigating committee. As usual in the Democratic party, the violent factor triumphed, and the committee refused to profess that the investigation did not mean revolution, notwithstanding the fact that the action of the Pennsylvania convention was known here early this afternoon. The truth is, that the worst elements of the Democratic party have the control of it once more. They intend revolution, and will not be baulked if they have the power to accomplish their ends, and the conservative elements are as willing to play dough face and yield to the threats and privileges of the reckless conspirators against the public peace, as they were at any time before 1860. The fundamental principle of stable Republican Government—obedience to the legally ascertained results of elections—was even more dangerously and recklessly imperiled than it is now. It is already clear that only a popular condemnation of the party which contemplates revolution can prevent it. Whatever States may do, the national party, as represented in Congress and in the National Committee, by refusing to commit itself against revolutionary proceedings, manifestes in favor of them.

It may be a question if the Russians could take Constantinople after a regular and prolonged siege, to say nothing of occupying it without resistance, as they are questionably could have done by a direct march from Adrianople. The natural defences of the city are very strong, and time has been given to the Turks, which they have improved, to regularly fortify them. The Turks are a brave and resourceful people, and there is no reason to doubt that, having rallied from the disorder of retreat, they would defend Constantinople with more than the vigor displayed at Plevna. It contains all they hold most dear, and every incentive of religious and race animosity would be supplied to nerve them to a last effort. They have also evidently been heartened by the changed position of England, and made up their minds that they will be supported in a final struggle. It would seem as though either Russia had made up her mind to avoid war, or believed it possible, or that she had missed the golden opportunity in not occupying Constantinople at once, and making prisoners of or disarming the whole Turkish army. With reinforcements of English and other troops, which would be ready if they were not compelled to retreat at a very early stage and confine themselves to the defensive. In fact the Turk in Europe has taken a new lease of life, and however much his territory may be carpolled, he is not to be eliminated from the problem in this century. Another war, at least, will be required before that object is accomplished. For this pause in fate he may distinctly thank the interference of England, late though it may have been, and useless as it probably is in averting his destiny.

The threat that Gail Hamilton gave the Congregationalist last year still rankles in its manly bosom. But, even in its wrath, it should remember G. W.'s little hatchet. The Congregationalist, by withholding its authority for the story that Senator Blaine pays the Tribune for publishing Gail Hamilton's letters, strengthens the suspicion that it has no authority to give, and gives a color of justice to the remark of THE BANGOR WHIG, that "in printing such a spiteful calumny the editor of the Congregationalist disgraces journalism and brings discredit upon the religion which he professes to teach." Boston Traveller.

For the second time, the sum appropriation made by the Democrats for printing at the Patent Office has run out, and the work of issuing patents has stopped, and cannot be resumed till the beginning of the new fiscal year unless the Democrats in the House can be induced to pass another deficiency bill.

Logs at Auction for Tolls.

Notice is hereby given, that tolls are due on certain logs cut during the Winter of 1876 and 1877, by Isaac Mace & Son, on the northwest quarter of the town of Amherst, and run in Great Works Stream. Said logs are now in Penobscot River, between Bangor and Brewer, and in Kenduskeag Stream, in Morse & Co.'s drive of logs, by said Morse & Co.'s new mill in Bangor, and are marked M on the sky—or Bangor M.

The amount of tolls due the Great Works Stream Dam Company is as follows:

3475 Hemlock logs, more or less, $70,105 31 board measure.
325 Spruce logs, more or less, 8,512 ft. board measure.
One half of said logs driven from Alder Stream, 196,308 ft., at 40 cts. per M board measure, $78.61
One half of said logs driven from Shepley or Dacy dams, 195,484 ft., at 50 cts. per M board measure, $48.91
$127.52

More than fifteen days have elapsed since the passage of said logs, or a major part of them, into Penobscot River, and so many of said logs as may be necessary to pay said bill of tolls, and all charges, will be sold at Public Auction, at the Auction room of R. S. Prescott, Central Street, Bangor, on SATURDAY, the 8th day of June next, at two of the clock P. M.

MAINE NEWS.

THE CIMBRIA.

TRANSFERRING THE CREWS.

What an Officer Reports.

ELLSWORTH, May 24. Small parties of Russian officers are leaving the Cimbria with all their baggage, which they pass formally through the Custom House. A few leave by every boat going West. Three passed through Hillsworth to-day bound West. One of the officers in conversation confirmed the report that the Russian force is composed of three ships' crews, each fully officered. He says there is no harm in now saying that they have come to America to man three fast vessels to be purchased and converted into Russian cruisers. He thinks two have already been purchased and are now in Philadelphia. Such officers as have left the Cimbria have gone to those vessels. When asked if any of the sailors had been sent on, he answered that the sailors would be taken directly in the Cimbria to the point of transfer. The officer conversed with is of the rank of Lieutenant, highly educated, and is apparently candid in his statements. He gave his name, but it is unpronounceable.

FROM PORTLAND.

Rejection of Bail Refused.

PORTLAND May 24. The robbers of Day's jewelry store having applied for a reduction of bail from $13500 each, the Commissioners to-day decided to refuse their request.

MARINE DISASTER.

VINEYARD HAVEN, May 24. The schooner Dunleni, of this port, reports that she saw to-day near Cross Rip lightship the schooner Union, of Castine, Me., Capt. Mills, from St. John for New York, with a cargo of lumber, full of water and abandoned. Nothing is known here concerning the crew.

WOODS HOLE, Mass., May 24. The crew of the schooner Union, of Castine, before reported abandoned off Pollock Rip, yesterday, were saved by the schooner W. S. Shepard and landed at Tarpaulin Cove. The Revenue cutter Gallatin attempted to tow the abandoned schooner to Vineyard Haven, but she capsized off Tuckernuck Shoal. The steamer Island Home went to her this morning and found the deck and cargo gone, her masts and rigging a bogue, and nothing worth saving.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS, Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 23.

Mr. Edmunds from the Select Committee to take into consideration the state of the law respecting the ascertaining and declaring of the result of the elections of President and Vice-President of the United States, said he was directed by the committee to make a report in part in form of a bill to amend sundry provisions of chapter 1, title 3 of the Revised Statutes relating to Presidential elections and to provide for and regulate the counting of votes for President and Vice-President and the decision of the questions arising thereon. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Edmunds gave notice that he would ask the attention of the Senate to its consideration some day next week; and he hoped the Senators would examine it carefully.

Mr. Tiumun, a member of the Select Committee said he only wished to remark that the report was not unanimous and he would take occasion to explain to the Senate why he dissented.

The bill for the appointment of an additional Circuit Judge in the second Judicial Circuit comprising the States of New York, Vermont and Connecticut, passed.

The bill for free entry of articles imported from this Paris exhibition by societies established for the encouragement of the arts and sciences passed.

The Senate resumed consideration of the bill providing a permanent Government for the district of Columbia.

The pending question being on the amendment of Mr. Bayard to tax real property one dollar on each 100 dollars of the cash valuation thereof, after a brief discussion it was agreed to, yeas 40; nays 13.

An amendment by Mr. Kirkwood providing that real estate only without the limits of the cities of Washington and Georgetown, shall be taxed one dollar on each $100 and leaving personal property to pay one-dollar tax and half one dollar on each $100, was agreed to yeas 25; nays 21.

Mr. Hamlin submitted an amendment providing that a poll-tax of one dollar be annually assessed upon and collected of every male inhabitant of the District who shall be 24 years old, and tax to be levied and collected as other taxes. Mr. Hamlin in explaining of the amendment said there was a very large number of people here who paid no taxes yet they have all the benefits of the schools, improved streets, etc. He believed every inhabitant should contribute something for what the law and the Government afforded him, and this poll-tax would probably bring to the District $15,000 or $20,000 a year.

Mr. Wispe was surprised that such a proposition should come from the source it did. It imposed upon the colored people of the district a poll tax of one dollar a head, when many of them were so poor that the Government had to take care of them. Great complaint was made on the other side of the chamber a short time ago about a poll tax in Georgia. He was surprised that the Georgia doctrine got to Maine so soon.

Mr. Conkling—Was not that a condition of voting?

Mr. Whyte—I don't know. This is a condition of living.—it is worse.

Mr. Conkling—It does not propose to kill him if he does not pay the tax.

Mr. Wispe—It will kill some to pay it. He was not hard-hearted enough to levy a poll-tax of one dollar on the poor colored man.

Mr. Hamlin said he had made no distinction on account of color. Messrs. Teller and Whyte spoke against the amendment.

Mr. Hamlin said that his amendment had no connection whatever with the right of voting. He did not propose to vote for this bill because there was not enough suffrage in it. He favored a mixed government for the District, a portion of the officers to be elected by the people and a portion appointed by the General Government.

If the General Government should take control of the District, it should pay all its taxes. The amendment was agreed to—yeas 27, nays 22.

House.

A bill providing that persons deprived of their pensions from March, 1866 to June, 1866, by reason of their being in the civil service, shall be paid their pensions for that time, passed.

A bill repealing the section of the Revised Statutes which provides that no claim for a pension not prosecuted to a successful issue within five years from date of filing, the same shall be admitted with recorded evidence from the War or Navy Department passed.

A bill increasing to $72 per month pension, paid to soldiers or sailors who lost both arms or both legs or the sight of both eyes, passed.

A bill granting a pension of $37.50 per month to every pensioner who has a leg amputated at the hip joint, passed.

A bill making it unlawful for an attorney or claim agent to demand or receive for his services in a pension case a greater sum than $10, passed.

Whole, Springer in the chair, on the army appropriation bill.

Mr. Foster moved to strike out section 1 of the bill, which reorganizes the Bureau of Military Justice and spoke in reference to the importance of the Bureau.

The Democrats having mustered in greater force than last night and there being a larger number of absentees on the Republican side the amendment was rejected 93 to 90.

Mr. Garfield moved to amend so as to direct the board provided for in section 12 to report whether the bureau of military justice shall be composed as provided in the bill, namely, of one Judge Advocate General with the rank of Colonel and four Judge Advocates with the rank and pay of Major.

Mr. Cook defended the officers of the army from attacks made a few nights ago, upon them by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. Bragg,) and denied that the army was aristocratic in its tendencies.

Mr. Bragg denied that he made any charges against the officers of the army. There were no more gallant men in the world. He had simply referred to the fact that the head for the army was so small that those officers had nothing to do and spent their time in idleness. After further discussion the amendment was received.

Mr. Foster moved to strike out section 10 reorganizing the Pay Department and after a long discussion the motion was defeated 98 to 96.

Mr. Hale made a point of order on section 12 (which provides for a Board of three Major Generals to examine into the organization and efficiency of the several branches of the service and to suggest improvements,) that it was new legislation and therefore not an appropriation bill.

The chair sustained the point and then Mr. Hewitt after modifying the section so as to avoid a point of order, offered the section as a new amendment and the same point of order was made against the amendment and it was again sustained.

Mr. Hewitt again changed the section "to request" not "require" the President to convene such a board.

Mr. Chalmers moved to amend so as to provide that the board consist of the Secretary of war, chief of Engineers and three Major Generals. Adopted.

The section as amended was then incorporated in the bill.

Mr. Hale made a like point of order against section 13, which authorized the President to discharge honorably officers who may apply to be discharged before January next, such officers to receive as a gratuity one year's pay for every five years service. The point was sustained and the section struck out.

Mr. Hale also made a like point against section 14 which provides for the mustering out of the service, by the board to be constituted by the Secretary of war, of such officers as may be reported by the heads of the respective divisions unfit for the proper discharge of their duties. The point was sustained and the section struck out.

Mr. Hewitt made several attempts to amend the section so as to bring it within the rules, but being unable to do so moved the Committee rise which was agreed to and the House adjourned.

POTTER'S COMMITTEE.

A PRELIMINARY MEETING.

Adjourned to Meet Monday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24. The Potter committee met this afternoon and discussed the various methods of proceeding. They also conferred on the subject of procuring a room for the meeting and of the appointment of subordinate officers. Secretary Sherman's letter was laid before the committee by the chairman, but no action was taken on it. Representative Hiscock, the only absent member, will return to Washington to-morrow. The committee adjourned until Monday, when the organization will be perfected and the business formally commenced.

CONNECTICUT.

Fire and Explosion—Several Persons Injured.

HARTFORD, May 24. A fire broke out at one o'clock this morning in Jones' Block on Market street, in a large building used for stores and silk factory and furniture ware-rooms. About half past one an explosion suddenly threw a part of the north wall over upon a number of firemen standing near, and buried them. Nine are now accounted for, D. S. Camp, photographer, Charles Harper and John H. Parker, firemen, are dead. Six others are wounded. The building was entirely destroyed. Insured in the Hartford companies. One or two of the injured firemen are in a critical condition. The building had about 100 feet front and was four stories high with a mansard roof. It was occupied on the ground floor by Cooke & Sherman, meat market, W. Stiebel & Co., furniture, and a saloon. Nearly all the rest were occupied by the Novelty Braid Works and silk manufacturers. Samuel Ressler, proprietor of the works, owned the building. The principal loss is suffered by the silk works and on the building. A part of the stock is saved and a part of the building unfallen. The loss can not yet be conjectured. Total insurance on the machinery, $58,500; on silk works $4,000, building, $37,500; other occupants' insurance $3,310.

NEW YORK CITY.

The Syndicate Bond Sales.

NEW YORK, May 24. The total syndicate sales of 4½'s yesterday at 102¾ were over $1,000,000, leaving about $1,000,000 reserved for the American market. It is expected that the price will be further advanced to 103 and accrued interest, when, it is stated by a member, the balance will be taken up and the contract closed—The $1,000,000 remaining at London will be sold promptly as the foreign market reaches American prices. The syndicate, it is cla med, will be ready to respond to orders from Secretary Sherman for the purchase of the the contract in gold as soon as the remaining $1,000,000 of bonds are sold. The sales of the 4 per cents in this city is increasing, a single banking institution having made average sales of over $100,000 a day for the past week. A member of the syndicate yesterday expressed the opinion that when the 4½ per cent. contract closed out, the 4 per cents will find a ready market and be sold in large lots.

THE INDIANS.

The Bannock Agent Complained of.

NEW YORK, May 24. A Fort Ellis, Montana, letter says that the Bannock Indians were persuaded to return to their reservation. On arriving there the chief denounced the Indian agent in the presence of Capt. Bell and all of the officers, soldiers and Indians, as a liar and a thief, and that he had half starved the tribe and had sold them the supplies which had been stolen by the government for distribution. The settlers in the vicinity verified the statement made by the Bannock chief. Gen. Erkhin had recommended the Government to remove the Bannocks to arable land where they can cultivate the soil as they want to. The agent seemed to care more about the orders under which the soldiers were acting than the complaints of the Indians.

Sitting Bull.

The same letter, dated May 8th, says that a dispatch has just been received to the effect that a messenger from Sitting Bull has reached Gen. Miles with a proposition for his surrender, and a treaty providing for a peaceable return of the refugee Indians from the Dominion to the American territory. The reports sent regarding the desire of the fugitive Nez Perces to return, receive confirmation in various ways. It can be effected by a little management.

STICKS, STONES, BOARDS, TWIGS AND HAIL.

Great Destruction of Property and Loss of Life.

MADISON, WIS., May 24. Last night's heavy rain storm was accompanied by a remarkable phenomenon of a rain of sticks, stones, boards and twigs of various sizes, and large hail. The cyclone came from the southwest, probably from Mount Pelee. From 15 to 20 barns are reported destroyed. Two men were killed instantly while another man and woman were seriously injured by the destruction of their dwelling. A number of prairie fires started during the evening and a report from Oregon, Wis., says many houses were torn down near that place, and 3 or 4 persons killed. Great destruction of property and loss of life undoubtedly resulted from the storm.

Appalling Loss of Life.

The storm came from the direction of southwest passing through that section in the State where no telegraph communication is established hence details of the great destruction and loss of life are meagre. Enough has been received, however, to show that the devastation and sacrifice of property and life was appalling. Some 12 or 15 persons are known to have been killed and large numbers seriously injured.

WASHINGTON.

Republicans to be Seated.

WASHINGTON, May 24. The House Committee on Elections to-day decided to report favorably on the pending bill fixing the 22nd of October for holding the election for Representatives to the 46th Congress in the State of West Virginia. The reports in the South Carolina contested election case of Richardson vs. Rainey, was completed by the Committee, the majority report recommending a new election. It is signed by all the Democratic members. A report declaring Rainey the sitting member entitled to a seat is signed by all the Republican members.

Thompson's Say So.

NEW YORK, May 24. Belied to the statements in the Washington Post of Wednesday, implicating Secretary Sherman with the alleged crookedness of Fahnenstock and other of the Jay Cooke firm, in the First National Bank of this city, Mr. Thompson, President of the Chase National Bank, which he established after having sold out its First National to Fahnenstock & Co., says he cannot give definite information about the Secretary of the Treasury and the First National Bank, nor of J. Cooke & Co.'s doings, because he dissolved all connection even he found they were likely to compromise his bank and interests, but the report in the Washington Post is pretty nearly correct, and I have at least no reason to doubt its assertions."

ILLINOIS.

A Terrible Tornado Kills Persons [illegible].

CHICAGO, May 24. About six o'clock last evening a tornado struck the settlement three miles from Barrington, a Chicago suburb, and desolated the country for a radius of about two miles. The farm house of Wm. Brunes was destroyed. Mrs. Brunes was instantly killed and two young children carried through the air by the whirlwind, and buried dead to the ground 20 rods away. A laborer was lifted from his feet and on striking terra-firma again his legs were broken. No other loss of life is reported but the destruction of property is considerable. Many parties of the storm reported from various points but nothing very serious in this vicinity.

FOREIGN NEWS.

MORE HOPES OF PEACE.

THE CONSTANTINOPLE FIRE.

Three Propositions.

LONDON, May 24. The Post states that Schouvaloff brings assurance that the disposition in St. Petersburg for peace quite equals that in London, and is also the greater of certain expressions of willingness to meet the English views, and of a general scheme of reconciliation. Though Russia declines to cede to Sta Stefano treaty, she is prepared to "discuss" in a Congress its previous stipulations, and the Post adds: "This to the general apprehension will appear to amount to a restoration of Gortschakoff's circular. On the other hand, it is to be hoped that the British Cabinet will stand firmly by Salisbury's dispatch."

The Interview with Salisbury.

Schouvaloff's interview with Salisbury is believed satisfactory, and Salisbury will probably inform Parliament that invitations will be issued by the signatory powers for a Congress to meet at Baden-Baden to consider what modifications are necessary to the treaty of Paris, so as to render unnecessary the submission of the San Stefano treaty by Russia to the Congress.

No Hope of Demonstration.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 24. The Russo-Turkish commission has failed to agree upon a line of demarcation, the Russians claiming several points which the Turks refuse to concede.

The English Cabinet—Hopes of Peace.

The Standard this afternoon says: The Cabinet council all three hours yesterday and will resume deliberations to-day. We can renew with considerable confidence the statement that the difficulties are in a fair way of being removed. The prospects of peace are certainly brighter to-day than they have been for some days past.

English Movements.

The Times' special from Athens says: The burning of the sublime Porte's building, and the attempt of Ali Suave to proclaim Murad Sultan taken in conjunction with the approach of the Russians to Constantinople cause the belief here that the Sultan has placed himself under protection of the Russians.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Hartington's Resolution.

LONDON, May 24. The majority in the House of Commons last night against Hartington's resolution, that no forces be raised or kept by the crown in time of peace save within India, without the sanction of parliament, was nearly double that conceded by the opposition, all of whose estimates placed the government's majority at about 60 to 70. The Times says this was because the debate brought out clearly the fact that the real issue was the approval or condemnation of the Government's policy in utilizing the Indian troops. Under that interpretation the House voted upon it. If the resolution had been carried it would have been accepted by all the world as a vote of censure. Questions of legality and of the constitutionality of the Government's methods, may exercise Parliament's attention some other time. The resolution was properly considered in its bearing on the conduct of the Government at the great political crisis, and in that light it overwhelmingly defeated.
